Re: Expert Witness and CLE Presenter/Stephen Doyne, Ph.D.

Dear Ms. Rosing:

I am sending this packet based upon reliable professional recommendations to be directed to your agency. In brief my most recent letter to the Psychology Licensing Board Enforcement President is an accurate update.

My major concern is the fact that your agency same as the Family Court and FCS/Family Court Services never had a CV on this bogus propaganda Stephen Doyne Ph.D. who has been practicing and giving lectures to your legal professionals for 25+ years in our San Diego County. Dr. Doyne keeps running from me and never allowed to a glimpse at ANY of his professional "Diplomate(s)."

Dr. Doyne unprofessional hiding is no surprise and if any it clearly explains as to why Doyne actually never met the qualification of the "one and only" well respected ABPP/American Board of Professional Psychology and/or its subspecialty AAFP/American Academy of Forensic Psychology.

In our line of work, Doyne's attitude is clearly bizarre, intimidating the public, lulling the judges, flat out unsafe to the helpless and innocent children.

Sincerely,

Emad Tadros, MD.

San Diego Superior Court/Expert Witness since 1993.

Stephen Doyne Is The Professional Chameleon Of Titles

Respectfully submitted,

Stephen E. Doyne, Ph.D.
Clinical Psychologist
Diplomate American College of
Forensic Examiner

American College of Forensic Examiners, otherwise known as ACFE or ACFE(I), does exist online. It is not accredited as a school. It is owned by Robert O'Block. It is a "certification mill" with 14 other certifications all coming from the same 2400 square foot home that Robert O'Block owns at 2750 East Sunshine Road, Springfield, MO. A pet cat named Zoe has a Diplomate from Robert O'Block.

Sincerely,

Stephen E. Doyne, PhD.
Clinical Psychologist
Diplomate American Board of Forensic Examiners

Google the American Bar Association Journal Volume 16, "The Print – Expertise to go, by Mark Hansen Esq." Mark Hansen writes about the "certification mill" ACFE. The Board is not a real board, but it is the same bogus certification as the one above, ACFE, owned by the same con-artist Robert O'Block. Stephen Doyne fraudulently "title jumps," to make himself look better as being real board certified. Stephen Doyne IS NOT board certified. Doyne started using "Board" after 10News aired their story on him July 7th and 8th.

Sincerely,

Stephen E. Doyne, PhD.
Clinical Psychologist
Diplomate American College of Forensic Psychologists

None of his diplomate titles are consistent with true professional integrity or real board certification. Doyne "title jumps" to make himself look better when he is really a con-artist. The American College of Forensic Psychologists does not exist, there is no such entity in existence. The American Board of Forensic Psychology (ABFP) does exist as a real bonified board with integrity, and they never heard of Doyne. The ABFP is a sub-specialty of the one and only American board recognized by the American Psychological Association (APA), called the American Board of Professional Psychology (ABPP). Doyne is not associated with either one, ABPP/ABFP; Doyne does not have a real board certification, he has never been qualified or authorized with the most credible board certification. He has "Cat Credentials, same as Zoe the pet cat. This "title jumping" speaks for itself. If you still do not get it, then you need to keep listening to Doyne.

Dear Ms. Israel-Moss:

Regarding your letter of August 23 concerning Stephen E. Doyme, Ph.D., according to our records, Dr. Doyme is not, and has never been, a member of the American College of Forensic Psychology. We do not have Diplomates and he lists the group as American College of Forensic Psychologists, which is not our group.

Cat Gets "Board Certified" as Psychologist

BY MARK HANSEN

©2002 ABA Journal

Zoe D. Katze has an impressive-looking set of credentials—Ph.D., C.Ht., DAPA. She has been board-certified by three major hypnotherapy associations and holds diplomate status in the American Psychotherapy Association.

Not bad for a 6-year-old house cat. And not even a pedigreed one at that.

But Zoe's not just any cat. She's Philadelphia psychologist Steve K.D. Eichel's cat. Eichel had a point he had been wanting to make about the proliferation of bogus credentialing organizations over the past 10 or 20 years.

So he decided to credential his cat.

To do that, Eichel first had to get his cat some credit, which turned out to be the hardest part of the process. The credit card company's agent initially asked for Zoe's Social Security number, Eichel says, but cheerfully relented when Eichel told him it wasn't readily available. Zoe was then added to Eichel's account as an authorized user.

To get Zoe her first credential, Eichel says, he simply filled out an "application for certification" on a lay hypnosis association's Web site and charged the fee to his credit card under Zoe's name.

Since most lay hypnosis associations have reciprocity agreements, he says, it was a snap getting Zoe board-certified by two other credentialing organizations.

Eichel then decided to go for the gold: diplomate status in the American Psychotherapy Association, which, according to its own promotional literature, "is limited to a select group of professionals who, by virtue of their extensive training and expertise, have demonstrated their outstanding abilities in regard to their specialty."

Zoe D. Katze, Ph.D., C.Ht., DAPA

The American Psychotherapy Association is affiliated with the American College of Forensic Examiners, whose credentialing practices were critically examined in the February 2000 issue of the ABA Journal. Eichel admits that he served briefly on the APA's executive advisory board, but says he quit in 1999 when he learned it was board-certifying people who did not have licenses or graduate degrees.

The APA, to its credit, requested a copy of Zoe's resumé before it would issue her any credentials, Eichel says. So he made one up. And it's a real doozy.

The name itself is the first clue as to Zoe's true identity. In German, "Zoe Die Katze" translates to "Zoe the Cat." And Eichel didn't stop there. He listed a previous job with the St. Felix (as in "Felix the Cat") Home for Children. And he gave her a consulting position with the Tacayllaermi

Friends School, the first name of which is "I'm really a cat" spelled backwards.

That's where it might have ended. Eichel says he had no intention of publicizing the matter further. But when his cat started getting a lot of e-mail, he felt obliged to answer. And when a reporter for a major magazine requested an interview with Zoe for a story she was doing on the use of hypnosis during childbirth, he decided it was time to let the cat out of the bag.

Rochester, N.Y., psychologist Michael A. Baer, chairman of the APA's executive advisory board, says the association has a system of checks and balances in place to prevent something like this from happening.

"I'm not exactly sure how it happened, but the truth is, this one just slipped right through the cracks," he says.

Baer says Zoe's credentials have since been revoked. And the association has taken steps to tighten its credentialing procedures.

"We don't want anything like this to ever happen again," he says.

Eichel says he suspects that Zoe's unmasking will make some people very angry.

As a matter of fact, it already has. Eichel has just been informed that Capital One MasterCard, which issued him the credit card he used to get his cat's credentials, is investigating a report of credit card fraud against him and Zoe. The report lists Jerome Beacham, training director of the International Medical and Dental Hypnotherapy Association, one of the three organizations that issued Zoe credentials, as the source of the complaint.

But Eichel also hopes the episode will inspire others to demand changes in the way some credentialing is done:

"Limiting a credential to Homo sapiens would be a good start."

Dear _____

I have received your request for information regarding my membership status at the American College of Forensic Examiners. Please be advised that you saw me for a Court-ordered Custody Evaluation (Evidence Code 730) which concluded with my report being issued on September 20, 2005. My involvement with you ended with that Court-ordered assessment. Therefore, I am not providing you the confidential information you have requested. Please do not contact me again in this regard.

Sincerely,

Really? So a Custody Evaluator's CV (credentials) and qualifications are confidential? The confidential information requested was details about Doyne's specialty Diplomate. Doyne sees it appropriate to withhold information about his diplomate specialty, secret from the Public. The truth speaks for itself about Doyne's fraud with his signature on it. In Doyne's "typo error" defense the typist was able to differentiate hearing the "Examiners" which is above his name and the "Psychologists" below his name in this letter. How much do you want to believe Doyne's "chewing gum" typographical error cover up? Why does Doyne jump between titles? Doyne is covering up his credentials fraud by accusing his typist instead.

Dear Dr. Tadros:

Our office, the Office of the Vice President and Provost, keeps a copy of every signed contract for full-time and part-time (adjunct) faculty. They are kept as paper files in filing cabinets until they are several years old, and then we have them made into digital files that we can access on our computers.

This practice started at the time of the merger of the University of San Diego College for Men and College for Women in about 1972. Although we have some older contracts, the records sent to us from the previous two colleges were not complete.

I have been able to find a record for any full-time or part-time faculty member that I have been asked about that dates 1972 or later.

As I responded before in August 2007, I do not have a record of an adjunct professor by the name of Stephen Doyme. When you asked again recently, I also had the Dean's office of the School of Law check their records. They said they "have no old contracts for this person." The Dean's assistant does not recognize the name.

We also e-mailed several faculty members who have been around a long while. One who has been here since 1967 said "I do not remember any such person...is it possible that there is a typo, and this is our 1984 graduate Stephen P. Doyle? ...I have no memory of him as an adjunct either, but at least it is a name in the legal community." Since Doyme's CV states his name as Stephen E. Doyme, I don't think this is the case.

Sincerely,

Deborah Gough
